EXPERIENCE

Project SEED

Austin, TX

Research Assistant

June 2022 -October 2022

- Understood how Mexican American children who translate for their parents on a regular basis are impacted in terms of their development socially, emotionally, and educationally
- Collected, entered, and analyzed data using REDCap and Airtable, and emailed the professor a summary of the acute cortisol responses to language brokering with the time of the sample and the trainer and trainees' attendance data
- Found that low efficacy and high parental dependence contributed to greater stress and slower recovery

PROJECTS

Anxiety and Treatment in Minority Females and Males

- Used R programming for data analysis to make bar graphs, the plot of the means with 95% CIs, and conduct t-tests from data collected in Google Forms
- Found that females have higher anxiety scores and treatment based on the bar graph and not overlapping plots and higher mean
- Measured p-values indicate males have less treatment and lower social anxiety scores; treatment (1.3), score (2.2)

Personal Website (waze98.github.io)

- Utilized a personal website guide to develop, commit, and push a new website to the Git platform
- Strategized on displaying certain content and layout based on importance, and researched marketing techniques to captivate users
